UNIQUENESS TO THE ULTIMATE

It began like any other school year. The students arrived, began exchanging summer experiences. The faculty was prepared, the textbooks lay waiting. Overall, just another school year. But underneath it all, everyone knew. This year was to be different, a very unique year indeed.

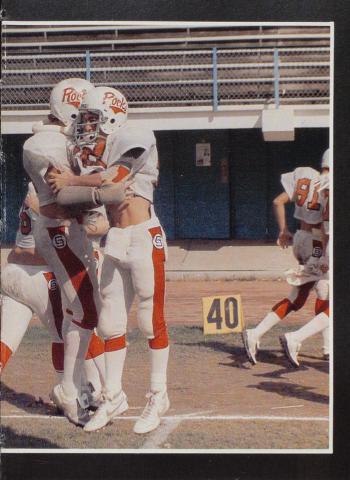

It began with a storm ... Hurricane Elena. She blew in from the Gulf during the third week of school, releasing everyone for an unexpected holiday, a week long holiday. Upon returning to school, it was like starting all over, like the first two weeks of school were lost, placed in limbo.

ABOVE: Coach Vernon Powell watches as Senior Todd Thriffiley sweeps around the end to race for a touchdown in the game against Riverdale. CLOCKWISE FROM TOP: Getting psyched up for the game is all part of the preparation. Lon Baxter and John Ladner take to the air to express their readiness. Although working with younger children can be very trying, Project Do volunteer Bobby Parker took to it like a fish to water. There's no better way to spend a Friday night than chasing down an archrival, especially when you're Senior Mike Yarborough and you're playing against your hometown, Pass Christian. Layups appear so easy, just drive in, put the ball up, two points, right? Well, Senior Jim Martin will be the first to tell you, it's not that easy!

After that, everything seemed to settle down. No major catastrophes, no bad experiences. But the underlying feeling was one of waiting. Waiting for something to happen. And it did . . . the week of Homecoming. Another storm, this one named Juan. While Elena had spared the school pier, Juan did not. Perhaps it was weakened by the first only to be completely wiped out by Juan. And that's not all Juan wiped out. For the first time in recent history, the annual Homecoming Parade was cancelled due to the storm. And of course, more days of school were also gone.

So the school had survived two major hurricanes. Now that all the storms were over, life could resume its normal pace. Aha! Not so quick!!

ABOVE: The afternoon intramural games are taken very seriously. Here Brad Rutledge draws back to fire a pass. CLOCKWISE FROM TOP: Project Do offers students the opportunity to become involved in community service projects. Sean Donnelly didn't realize the young lady he was working with, Miss Leslie Morel, is the niece of Brother Patrick McGinty. And speaking of brotherly love, Keith Robinson and John Keller ham it up for the camera. Retreat should be a time for reflection and meditation, so Chris Riley takes the time to put a few thoughts on paper. Chris, along with the other members of his class were on retreat at Rosaryville, Louisiana. Not knowing which way to turn, David Pitalo competes in the afternoon intramural program. Although participation was strictly voluntary, over 50% of the school was involved in the intramurals program.

The hurricane season was not quite over. Enter Kate ... the last hurricane of the season. Everyone watched her with keen interest. Would she hit the coast of New Orleans? Or Bay St. Louis? Or further east?

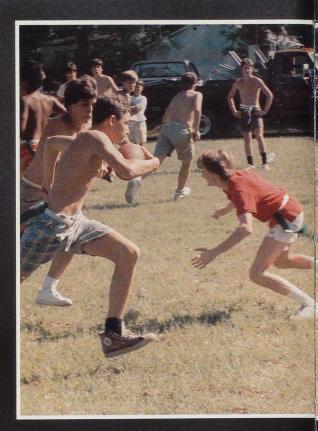

Someone must have been listening to the prayers of many, for Kate turned eastward and struck Panama City, Florida.

Following such a tumultuous beginning, it was a wonder anyone could possibly get his mind on school. But they did. Seniors began worrying over which college to attend, scholarship forms began circulating among the faculty, transcripts for grades sent out. The Junior National Merit Scores arrived, four very talented Juniors scored high enough to be considered National Merit Finalists. The sophomores were battling their computer literacy project. The Freshmen wondering whether they would make it through Algebra I or not. Normal everyday activities.

ABOVE: Blasting out for the Rockachaw Band is Colin Schmit. Colin joined the rest of the Band in the Veteran's Day Parade. CLOCKWISE FROM TOP: Anticipating a touchdown in afternoon intramurals, David Best attempts to outrun Brent Dantin. Outrunning his man is no problem for #28, David Zanca. His problem was getting his hands on the ball. His attempt was magnificent, however. Equally magnificent was Ring Night. The night when the term "Senior" becomes a reality. The Seniors proudly display their new jewelry, with the exception of Chris Riley who was not a student at SSC during his junior year, when rings are ordered. One student who sparkled like a jewel on the basketball court was Yasin Shabazz, shown here laying one up. Yasin was the only Sophomore on the starting Varsity.

Following the Christmas Holidays, additional factors came into play to make this truly a unique year. First, the Junior-Senior Prom was cancelled (due to lack of interest), then it was announced that the Annual Sidelines Fair would not be held this year. Finally (it was hoped) the days missed due to the Hurricanes had to be made up ... when? Of course, during the Easter Holidays. This was truly the most unique year ever.

But it should not be surprising, Since St. Stanislaus is a truly unique school. When asked about this, Senior Fred Endom, Student Council President, replied, "St. Stanislaus is a very unique community. We have here students from all over. We all band together as one school. Of course, we all have different interests, but, when it comes to ABOVE: Displaying a Rockachaw flag of his own design, Senior Larry Logue shows his support for the football squad. CLOCKWISE FROM TOP: With the SuperDome as a backdrop, Senior Ricky Russo lifts Andrea Ambrose during the Saints game. Many hours of hard work are completed by the cheerleaders before they are able to perform such lifts. The SSC cheerleaders were invited to cheer for the Saints-Giants matchup. Matching up with one of his three charges is Blake Boudreaux, Project Do Volunteer. Blake is one of a number of students who work at Senior Citizen homes and Day Care Centers. Perhaps work is what Shane Sigsworth needs. His contemplation lasted most of the afternoon with no visible results. Results are what these Sixth and Seventh graders are after . . . winning results. They're attempting to beat the Eighth grade in the Tug-of-War contest held during the Homecoming Pep Rally.

BELOW: Want to have a "howling" good time. Then you should have been at the Freshman Haunted House. This event is held each year at Halloween. By the way, behind that ferocious mask is Freshman Tyler Kean. CLOCKWISE FROM TOP: Leading the Brass section is Sophomore Alex Biro, who was mistakenly reported as someone else in last year's book. There's no mistaking this fellow. With that brilliant shirt and hair to match, Senior Chris Cyr makes a beautiful shot while on retreat at Rosaryville, resting very comfortably. Not resting at all are Seniors George Stills, Matt Caldwell, John Ladner, Arthur Wynne, and Lon Baxter, who struggle to overcome the Freshman team to break a tie in the Homecoming Pep Rally. The Seniors lost, but in all fairness, it should be reported that the Freshman team had 9 men on their squad. It's easy to distinguish who's on your team when you play dorm intramurals for Brother Eduardo. Those bright green and red jerseys can be seen for a mile.

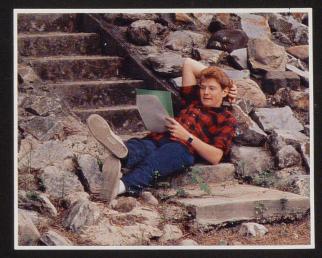

our school, we are all very proud. We may, occasionally disagree among ourselves, but when it counts we are there for each other.

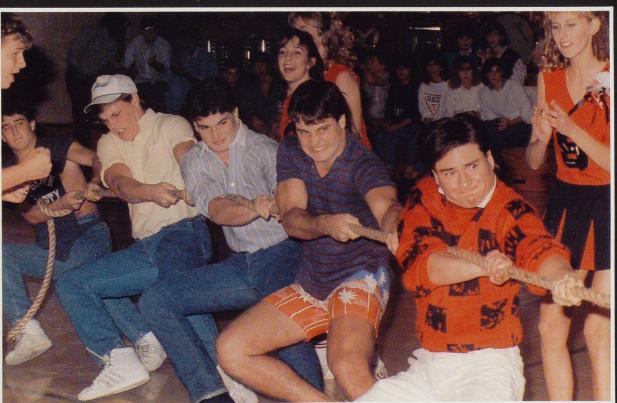

We are proud to be associated with such an old and established school. We naturally have a good academic program here, but it is not this program which makes us unique. It is the ability for us as students to get along with each other. Students coming from St. Stanislaus are truly well rounded because they have seen all walks of life."

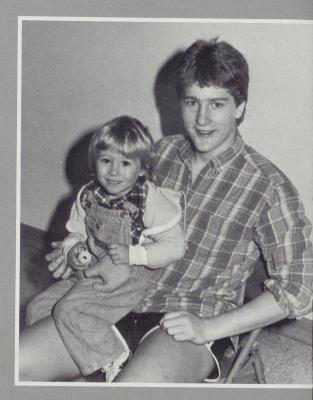

The boarding department adds to St. Stanislaus' uniqueness. It is easy to be able to get along with people if it is only for a few hours a day. We experience, first hand, what people are like in the different parts of the South and in other nations. This experience will put us at east in our future endeavors in college and elsewhere."

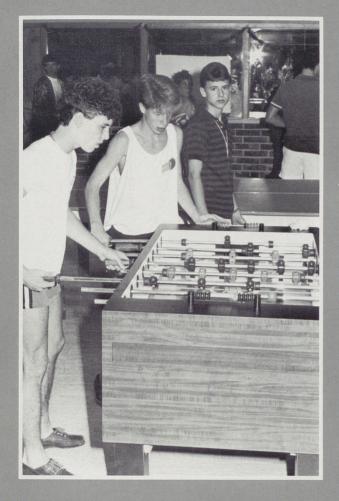

And Senior Mike Yarborough expressed his opinion of St. Stanislaus thusly, "St. Stanislaus can best be described as unique. Its students come from vast backgrounds to this school for various reasons. Whether you're from the Gulf Coast, New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Lafayette, Mexico, or wherever, you feel a certain pride about Stanislaus. A pride unfelt at most schools. It is a statement that you enjoy where you are.

BELOW: Junior volunteer Chuck Breath gave up many hours in the service of Project Do. CLOCKWISE FROM TOP: Dropping back for a pass, Billy Renaudin lets go the potential touchdown. Resting up between plays is Michael Yarborough, voted outstanding defensive lineman for the year. Perhaps these two should have been voted most defensive. Todd Thriffiley and David Zanca parade for the students during the Homecoming Pep Rally. They protrayed Flintstone characters. Each year the Senior Class attempts to top previous efforts at the Homecoming Pep Rally. All seriousness is involved here as Richie Smith lifts Suzi Treutel in a high bird. Richie and Suzi helped cheer the Saints in the Superdome in New Orleans. And cheering is the name of the game for the Seniors as they get rowdy at the Homecoming Pep Rally.

St. Stanislaus is unique for its history. It hasn't been going strong for 132 years for nothing. It has produced many leaders of today. It is the only school on the Mississippi Gulf Coast to produce a Heismann Trophy winner. Its early athletic teams were ones to be reckoned with. Even though St. Stanislaus' rule as tops athletically has died, it still produces the fine young men it always has. This is the reason students at other schools wish to defeat us in whatever we attempt. They may be able to defeat us in competition, but in life we are far better off for having attended Stanislaus. It would seem that the old saying, 'St. Stanislaus graduates employers, not employees!' is true.''

CLASSES

ABOVE: Preparing for a game like a modern day warrior, Arthur Wynne takes the game seriously. So seriously that many teams began keying in on him before a game began. CLOCKWISE FROM TOP: With no more than a simple smile, John Kergosien is repaid for his time and effort. John was one of the Project Do Volunteers. These individuals gave of their time and effort after school hours. Taking time during Senior Retreat in Rosaryville, Jim Martin and Sean Donnelly write down their thoughts. His flak jacket to protect his ribcage, Senior quarterback Jim Dempsey tries to cool off during an afternoon game with Riverdale of New Orleans. Equally hot is Senior Mark Van Eaton during intramurals. On defense is Baton Rouge native Jack Lightfoot.

THIS PAGE, ABOVE: A familiar face around campus, few people realized that this was Brother Loyola's 30th year at St. Stanislaus. Brother taught in the classroom of many different schools for a total of 43 years before retiring from teaching two years ago. UPPER: "Unhand me, you brute!" was the line here. Andre Vial and Karen Kolodziej were both excellent in the Drama Club production of "Home to Mother." BOTTOM: Linda Robinson, mother of Keith Robinson, Class of '87, was an avid fan who supported the Rocks loudly and often. More like her were needed.

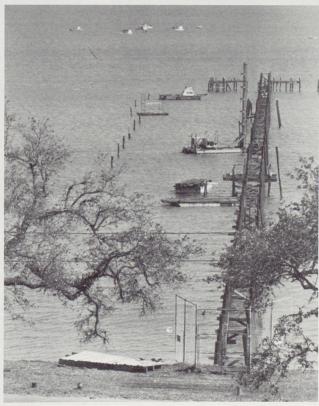

HOMECOMING

CHEERLEADERS

Beginning each year with a new squad may sound like a lot of hard work and it is, but it affords Brother Aquin Gauthier, S.C., the opportunity to work with more individuals than it would otherwise. St. Stanislaus also has a very unique squad in that it is coed. No other cheerleading squad on the Mississippi Gulf Coast is coed. The female members of the squad are generally students from the Our Lady Academy, while the male members are chosen from the Senior class.

This year's squad once again outdid themselves insofar as enthusiasm and just pure spirit is concerned. Whether they were cheering on the Rocks at one of the weekly Friday night games or the Saints in the SuperDome, the squad outperformed any and all competing squads.

And of course, without the cheerleaders what kind of pep rally could you possibly have? The cheerleaders are the ringmasters for these sometimes three-ring circuses, especially the Homecoming Pep Rally, which can be chaotic. Our hats are off to these wonderful people, who do a great job, which no one ever seems to appreciate.

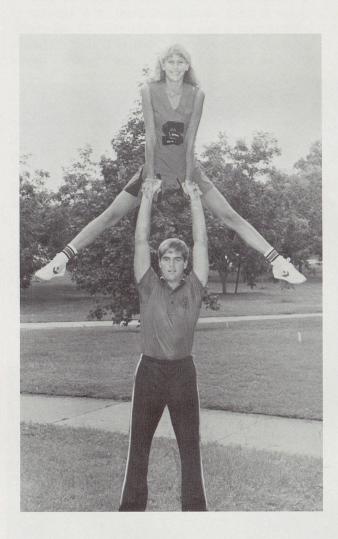

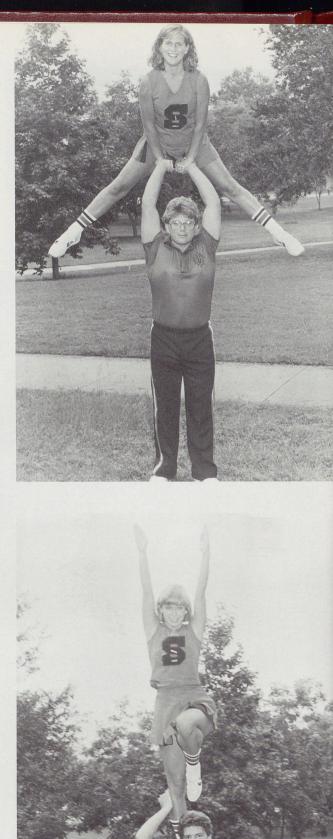

OPPOSITE PAGE, TOP: Using the megaphones for added volume, the cheerleaders were at every game to support the Rocks. # ROCK-A-CHAW BAND

The band this year, from the first halftime show to the last concert on April 29th, was a success. Led by Drum Major Crystal Davidson, a sophomore at OLA, this year's ensemble of various musical talent exemplified pride, courage, and determination.

Though the band won't go down as one of the largest, it made up for its small size in big sound. Every day from 3:15 to 4:15 after school, the band would meet and practice in order to shine at all football games and parades, while always giving the school something to be proud of.

Of course, the band made a few mistakes, but then again its rights outshone its wrongs by a mile; and those mistakes made will only teach the band what not to do in order to strive to the ultimate goal: Perfection.

OPPOSITE PAGE, TOP: A fine performance by the band at a concert in the Resource Center. BELOW: The band is directed by Mr. Howard Weaver at the concert. # PROJECT DO

Athletic and scholastic accomplishments of students are usually fairly well publicized, but there is another activity for which there are no bands, no cheerleaders, no flags, and little or no publicity. Brains, brawn or beauty are not prerequisites ... only heart ... you gotta have a lot of heart.

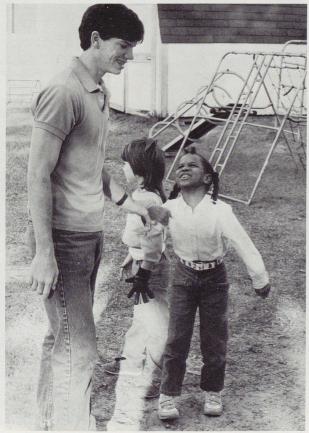

Project Do is that activity. It is made up of students under the direction of Brother Canisius Schell, S.C.; these students volunteer their time after school to participate in activities that can best be described as a "Do-It-Yourself Course in Humanities." Their volunteer projects include services to the aged, the needy, and the underprivileged.

Project Do gives young people the opportunity to grow and to put into practice the Christian virtues that they are taught at home and at school.

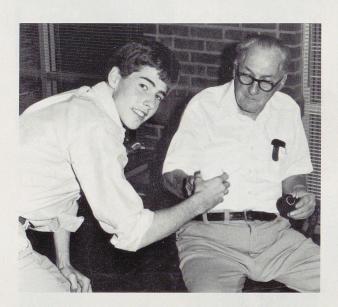

OPPOSITE PAGE, TOP: Not everyone has an older brother who will take the time to show them how something works. This is the task for Project Do volunteer Harry Woodbury. ## S.S.C.W.L.C

Begun as a non-credit extracurricular in 1969, Brother Bennet, S.C., has elevated the St. Stanislaus Weightlifting Club to a level found only in superior gyms across the nation. Involving young men in the development of their bodies as well as their minds is the goal of the SSCWLC. And the program is designed for the individual to increase his athletic excellence, confidence, and overall well-being.

Boy Scouts

Ask any member of Troop 86, "Why are you a Boy Scout?" The answer most likely to be heard is "It's Fun!"

Scouting should be fun and Troop 86's activities are planned to achieve that goal. This year's activities included camping, hiking, water skiing, canoeing, bowling, rocketing and many other fun activities, including a ten-day summer trip to Opryland, U.S.A., and the Smoky Mountains National Park.

But Scouting is far more than just fun. Every Scouting activity and way of organizing and doing things has a purpose behind it. Each has something to do with moving boys from where they are toward some basic goals. These goals are the aims of Scouting: Character, Citizenship and Fitness. The aims of Scouting supports St. Stanislaus' philosophy of helping spiritually, physically and socially. Troop 86 helps our scouts to "Be Prepared" for life.

Drama Club

The Drama Club presented two plays this year, a one-act in the fall, "Home to Mother," and a full-length musical for Christmas, "Scrooge." Moderator for the Drama Club was Mr. Walter Damiens. ABOVE: Troy Ostarly (playing Scrooge as a young boy) confers with his sister, Fan (Karen Kolodziej). #### LWAS

LWAS ... Last Week At Stanislaus. This timely activity occupied every waking moment for Senior John Falcon, shown at left putting the finishing touches on a board. The LWAS Board takes the place of the school newspaper at St. Stanislaus. It requires a great deal of time and patience to be able to compile articles and pictures each week for the board. The faculty and students are deeply indebted to John Falcon for his dedication and devotion to the LWAS Board. Without him, many students would have never received the recognition they did.

STUDENT COUNCIL

LEFT: 1985-86 Student Council Officers — Fred Endom (President), Jaime Fernandez (Treasurer), Jose Lau (Secretary), Steve Montagnet (2nd Vice President), David Zanca (1st Vice President).

The purpose of the Student Council is to provide students with the opportunity to learn civic government the hard way . . . by doing it. Moderator this year was Brother William Leimbach, S.C.

BOTTOM: Members of the Spanish Honor Society entertain the crowd with a song.

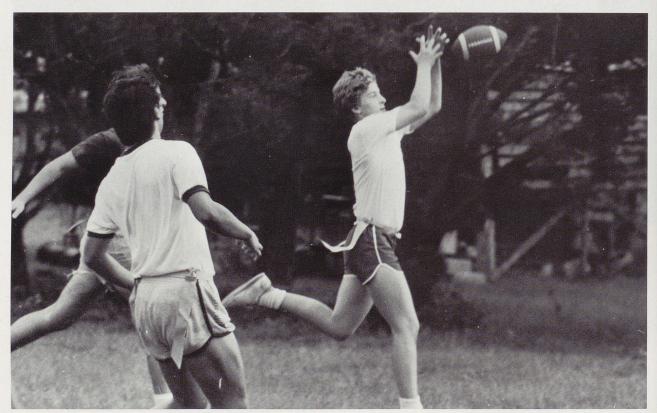

The St. Stanislaus chapter of the Societe Honoraire Francais was founded in 1975 by Fr. Gerhardt Vogel, SVD, who at the time was teaching at SSC. The purpose of the Honor Society is to promote interest in French, and to honor those who have excelled in French studies. By taking part in French activities, those of us who cannot continue a formal study of the language, can at least continue our interest and keep abreast of what is happening in another culture.

The Gayoso Chapter of the Spanish Honor Society was founded by Brother Eduardo, S.C., and Mrs. Helen Currie in 1975. The highlights of the Society's activities this year were the induction of our new members, with the singing of songs in Spanish, accompanied on the guitar by the advisor, Mr. Tom Ackerman; and an "International Supper." The supper took on a truly international flavor with the delicacies brought by special guests, the French Honor Society.

FOOTBALL

ROCKACHAW FOOTBALL

The summer was long and hot. August arrived and with it the two-a-day workouts for the Rocks. However, several of these were postponed while Hurricane Danny blew through. Then the first game of the season along with a week of practice were cancelled due to Hurricane Elena.

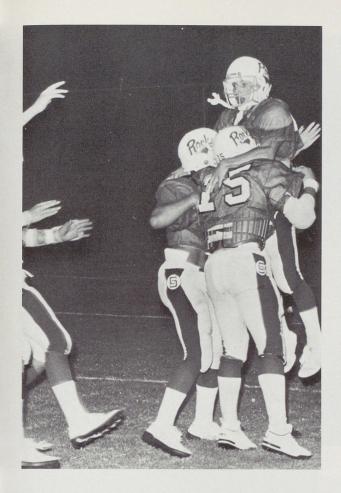

After all of this, settling down into a stable routine was a difficult task. In addition, injuries to Senior running back Mark Logan and Senior linebacker George Stills tended to dampen the spirits of the Rocks. Although the season began well enough, the crippling injury of Logan in the second game took its toll. Positions had to be reassigned and it took the Rocks several games to readjust.

But thanks to the coaching abilities of Head Coach Vernon Powell and assistants Rod Herring and Jerry Spell, the Rocks got back on the winning track, rolling up three consecutive victories. The Rocks lost their final game of the season to a top-ranked team in the state.

Next year there will be four returning starters on offense and three returning on defense. They will have to work hard as a team to accomplish another winning season.

BASKETBALL

The St. Stanislaus '85-'86 basketball team led by Coach Brother Anton Sokira, S.C., learned a great deal and gradually progressed during the season. The team was very young having only two seniors. Tom Walton and Jimmy Martin led a strong front court assisted by Juniors John Keller and Steve Montagnet. Yasin Shabazz, Josh Bowles, and Louis Schruff provided the playmaking and the excellent outside shooting. The team got better and better as the season progressed. They advanced to the semi-finals of the District Tournament where they were defeated by a very strong George County squad. With many talented sophomores and Juniors returning to aid the team next season promises to be a dominating force in the district.

The Junior Varsity squad intimidated many teams with a strong inside game directed by sophomores John Gross, Brad Rutledge, and Robert Brown. Brian Alexander, Shane Harris, and Joe Lee contributed with their strong perimeter shooting effort. This team will aid the Varsity effort next year and will be replaced by a promising freshman team.

TRACK

The 85-86 track season was short. There were only two meets. The second meet wasn't even a true meet, being only one and half teams present. The SSC track team looked decent in the two meets.

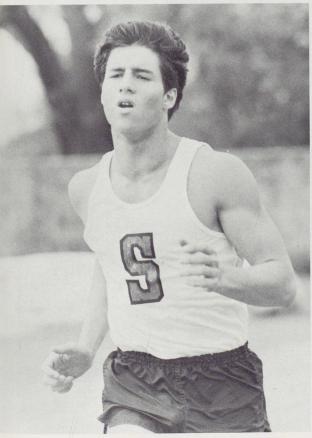

Inner squad competition was very high. The competition between the athletes was intense and exciting. Each teammate encouraged and supported every other teammate. The experience athletes gave and were asked advice from the inexperienced athletes.

The season was mostly practices. Somedays were hard, some easy depending on the coach's mood. Practices consisted of getting into shape, techniques, and inner squad meets.

BASEBALL'86

The old saying that "if it weren't for bad luck, I would have no luck at all" certainly applies to this year's St. Stanislaus Rockachaw baseball squad.

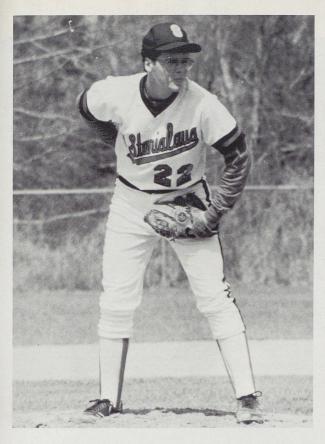

Prospects for the upcoming season in March looked externely bright. The Rockachaws lost only two starters to graduation last year, and the Rocks' two top pitchers, Mark Logan and David Pitalo, were both returning for their senior year.

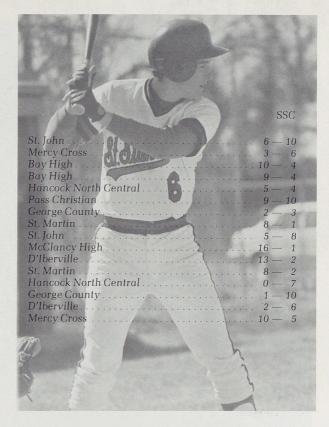

Then the bottom fell out for head coach Rod Herring and assistant coach Jerry Spell.

David Pitalo played the first two games of the season, then after beating Mercy Cross he encountered severe back pain and was lost for the remainder of the season. Just before District competition could decide a winner, pitcher Mark Logan pulled a muscle in his throwing arm and could not pitch. Center-fielder Yasin Shabazz broke his jaw in mid-season when hit during batting practice and was lost for the season. This left Coach Herring with only one pitcher with experience, Junior Louis Schruff. Coach Herring had to develop 8th and 9th graders to complement his pitching staff.

However, the Rocks pulled together and ended the season with a won-loss record of 8-8. Next year is another season and once again . . . the prospects look bright.

TENNIS

The SSC/OLA tennis team enjoyed much success during the 1985 season which was highlighted by the two thrilling victories over arch-rival St. John's of Gulfport, Mississippi. It would have been even more satisfying to cap the 10 wins and one loss regular season with State Championships in both the Boy's Singles and Boy's Doubles events.

Excellent performances were consistently turned in this year by Sam Morse, Steve Bouis, Tom Cook, David Bourgeois and Marco Lau in "A" team competition. The "B" team also enjoyed a successful season, winning six matches and suffering only one defeat. The "B" team members were Terry LeBourgeois, Scott Hensgens, Scott Comeaux, Cayman Sinclair, and Justin Homes.

Sophomores Felix Sternfels and John Gross meet in the Mall each morning to discuss assignments with the Day Students. Boarder Jack Lightfoot kept busy with the stats at the home basketball games.

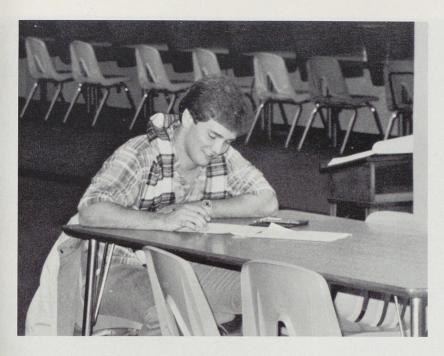

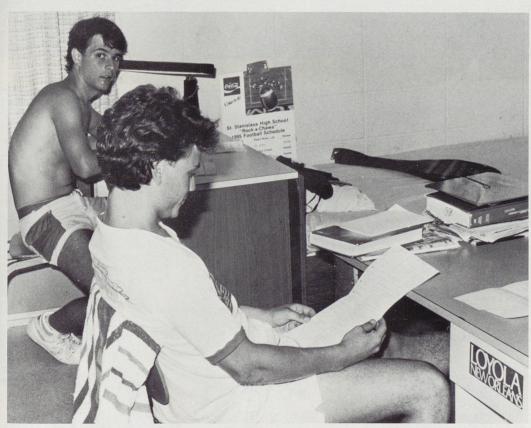

Although the life of a boarding student is routine, it is never dull! Activities range from day to day study halls to the more informal, such as intramurals, Rec. Hall games, skateboarding around the campus, an occasional dance at OLA next door. Of course, studies are the main purpose at SSC, and study halls are demanding. Teachers at SSC require an enormous amount of homework and the Resident Students are hard pressed to keep up with the demand. But each Dorm has a Prefect, who's only concern is with his boarders. Their grades, their health, their spiritually, these are all concerns of the Prefect. The dedication, love, and influence of these men is inspiring.

SENIOR SKI PARTY

The Senior Ski Party, hosted each year by Brother Joseph Donovan, S.C., is held in honor of the graduating resident students. On the Tuesday before graduation, Brother and the Senior Boarders all pile into a bus and travel to the Brothers' Ski Camp on the Jordan River. There they ski, eat, and generally have a good time. It is the last actual time the senior boarders have together as a group.

The quiet echoes inside the Mall. The place that had seconds before been vibrant with activity is now like an abandoned home where just memories remain. The realization that everything I had grown close to at St. Stanislaus would soon be like that mall, once alive and happening then suddenly over, startles me into reflection. The fact that the good times I had enjoyed would forever be just memories makes me feel empty and long for something more, something I could hold onto. However, I realize that this is all part of the maturing process. We need to learn when to let go of things so we can still remember the good times and have no tainted memories. We need to hold on to the good memories for that is all we'll be left with.

It doesn't take much to remember my first day of school. I was scared and nervous. I was experiencing a completely new situation and meeting new friends. As I grew, so did my friendships I remember the Eighth Grade graduation. I thought we were getting up in the world. Then there was the jump from ninth to tenth grade. All of a sudden we were at the bottom of the totem pole on both the athletic field and at lunch. Our Senior year came and with it our rings. It was a binding force that made us special. Now graduation culminates our cycle. We will be leaving a place that was special to everyone. We all feel a bit of a loss, but that is expected when you leave a place and people you're close to.

Michael Joseph Yarborough Valedictorian Class of 1986
